

Each of these ways turns a big machine called a generator. And that is what makes the electricity.

